TWO KISSES A DAY, COURT GIVES WIFE

Knoxville, Tenn., Judge Rebukes
Husband Who Acted Icily.

(By International News Service.)
Knoxville, Tenn., July 7.—A husband with failure to love his wife, a young husband was haled before City Judge R. P. Williams here and sentenced to kiss her twice daily.

"From the testimony of neighbors, who, as is often the case, seemed to know more about the affair than did the principals themselves, it seemed that 'temperamental incompatibility,' as it has been termed in higher courts, 'pure cussedness,' as it is known locally, was the cause of the trouble," says Judge Williams.

"You see, Henry would go home in the afternoon, and not being of a particularly affectionate nature, failed to greet his wife with a kiss. Now she, being in love with her husband, wanted to be kissed. After frequent failures of this kind on his part she charged Henry with an extreme frigidity of affections. Henry denied the allegations, affirming that he had too many serious and important things to do to consider without indulging in osculatory exercises with a woman, whom, after all, was nothing but his wife."

This enraged the wife, who proceeded to tell Henry just what she thought of him. Henry opened hostilities with a diatribe.
To make up for past offenses, and to cause him to cultivate a taste for such things, City Judge Williams sentenced Henry to two kisses daily.

WATCH GERMANS HERE

abroad or at sea. His office is continuing to issue routine bulletins of army and navy matters at home. It is understood that anything from abroad will have to pass through other censorship channels.

Included in the prospective roundup of Germans may be also the German marine insurance agents. These men are known to have gathered information of great potential importance to the German U-boat grand command. They have picked up some definite information of the sailing of ships, their cargoes and destinations. It has never been shown, however, that any such information reached Germany. Gathered into concentration camps or removed to the interior under restriction, these men will be at least removed from temptation.

Some officials of the State Department yesterday seemed to think that the old treaties between this country and Prussia might preclude the possibility of reprisal for the new Belgian outrages. It was pointed out, however, that the Germans themselves had made these treaties inoperative by their many breaches.

It was also stated that there were few Americans left in Germany upon whom the Kaiser might turn for revenge. A number of embassy clerks were left in the Spanish Embassy to look after the organization of our interests after Mr. Gerard left. These were American consular officials. There are still a few representatives of large American businesses in Germany, but the State Department has taken the position that if necessary these men will have to suffer the discomforts of a German internment camp.

The facts of the new German deportations as reported by the Belgian minister today are these: When Belgian troops conquered the German territories in Taborah, German Southwest Africa, they found there many German men of nonmilitary age and many of them with families and children. The whole Taborah region had been devastated by war, the Belgian minister says. It was impossible for the Germans to be kept there without serious risk to health and life. They were accordingly transferred to France. This transfer the Germans alleged to be inhumane. The Belgians offered to exchange these prisoners for Belgian civilians interned in Germany. On June 5 Germany, through the Holy See, announced that the Belgians offer would be considered.

Outrages Related.
Yet, on June 25, without further negotiation or notice the Germans ordered the deportation of twenty prominent Belgians from Brussels, as reprisal for the alleged inhumanity to the Germans from Taborah.

A message to the Belgian minister from Baron Beyens, Belgian minister for foreign affairs, has this to say of the proceedings:
"An offer of exchange of the Wolf News Agency tells us that these retaliatory measures were taken because of the treatment accorded by the Belgians after the capture of Taborah, to German women and children and civilians not liable for military service. They were compelled (according to Wolff) to travel across the Congo to the great danger of their health, interned in France instead of a neutral country, notwithstanding the reiterated steps taken with the Belgian government."

"We protest against these false allegations. While the civilian Germans were brought back to Europe it was on the request of many of them and in the interest of the health of all."
"Had we not done so we should have been charged with leaving them to die in Africa, in a country ravaged by war and in a perilous climate. We held certificates signed by the parties concerned themselves which show that their treatment all through was extremely humane."

ANTON LANG.

Munich, July 7.—The inevitable blight of Mars has at last reached the little village of Oberammergau, where were staged the world-famous Little Plays before the war started, and the Christ of the plays, Anton Lang, has been called to serve in the Bavarian army. The calling of the humble cabinetmaker-actor is a breaking of precedent, Duke Maximilian ago, that no participant should endure any suffering from war. Succeeding rulers have kept this promise up to the present time.

WAR DIETS SCHOOL OPENS HERE FRIDAY

Drexel Institute Graduate Engaged
by Navy League Women.

Miss Kathleen Mackin, graduate dietitian from Drexel Institute, Philadelphia, is in Washington to conduct the national economics course at the Theodore Bailey-Myers Mason House, 1606 Twentieth street northwest, the permanent school of preparation of the woman's section of the Navy League. The course begins at 10 o'clock on Friday and sessions will be held three times a week, Monday Wednesday and Friday, from 10 to 12 a. m.

The course includes instruction in war cooking, meat substitutes and food economies, canning, drying and preserving of food stuffs, preparation of sick diets, household economics and general instruction in dietetics. It was prepared in order to meet war time emergencies and to assist in the nation wide conservation of food economies, canning, drying and preservation.

The course will be given to two hundred chapters of the woman's section of the Navy League throughout the country who will organize classes for its study.
New classes have begun at the Macon House in first aid and surgical dressings under Miss Mary Cox, an American Red Cross nurse. Washington women remaining in town for the summer are urged to join these classes and learn how to do "their bit."

WOMAN'S CONFESSION DOUBTED BY POLICE

Say Negress Is Trying to Save Husband Who Slew Girl.

No credit is placed by the police in an alleged confession made yesterday by Bertha B. Simms, colored, prisoner at the District jail. The Simms woman is held as a material witness in the murder case of Eleanor Taylor, colored, her niece, who was murdered in an isolated spot in the woods in the northeast near the Maryland line, May 2 last, for which Joseph Y. Young, colored, common law husband of the Simms woman is charged and held.

The woman says she murdered the girl. Young, when arrested confessed the crime, the police say, giving the minutest details of how he induced the girl to go to the isolated place, how he killed her, and showed the police where he had thrown the knife with which the deed had been committed. The confession of the woman was made to John Roberts, colored, a missionary worker among the prisoners.

The woman says that knowing that Eleanor Taylor, her niece, was to meet Young she attired herself in a suit of Young's clothes, and went to the meeting place, and when the Taylor girl came she killed her and waited two hours for Young and when he came she attempted to murder him. The police say that the woman's confession is due to her love for Young whose life she hopes to save by the confession.

RECEIVERS ARE APPOINTED.

The Continental Trust Company and William G. Carter were appointed receivers for the Washington Storage Company yesterday by Justice Siddons in Equity Court. This action was taken at the request of Patrick T. Moran and Charles B. Stewart, who claimed that they have been unjustly deprived of $456 and $186, respectively. Attorney W. A. Johnson on behalf of the company asserted that the company had not paid anything on the initial investment. The concern is located at 409 South Capitol street.

RECOMMENDS MOTORS OF AVERAGE SPEED

Earl G. Gunn Advises Buyers to Seek Durable Cars.

When a man about town buys a motor car he might just as well figure that 90 per cent of his mileage is going to be inside the city limits under the watchful eye of a traffic "cop." And still most motor car makers put a great deal of emphasis on how long it takes them to go from New York to San Francisco. Why not see how many crossings he can take inside the city limits without getting called down by a traffic officer for impeding the flow of the never ending motor car line?

Earl G. Gunn, chief engineer of the Premier Motor Corporation, believes in building a motor car so that its point of greatest efficiency will be around the average speed that the average motorist employs in everyday driving.

"When you set about designing a car," says Engineer Gunn, "if you are experienced you know you cannot combine both extreme speed and extreme flexibility at low speeds in the same car. The very things which make speed possible in a motor car make it impossible for you to throttle that car down to meet traffic conditions. Sixty miles an hour is fast enough for any car to run, excepting on a race course."

"All Premier cars are designed to do better than sixty miles an hour, but that is not the primary consideration in mind. We take a great deal more care to see that they will throttle down to a mile or two in high, and that they can settle down to a steady pull in high on a hard hill without bucking or choking. These are the requirements of the average motorist. Traffic is getting to be such a factor in the operation of a motor car that engineers and builders can no longer ignore it."

"It is said that the Premier Alumnus Six with magnetic gear shift can take a hard climb in high more slowly than any other car on the market, and I believe that it really can although claims of this sort are in my opinion bad taste."

EDUCATORS REGRET LOSS OF ASSOCIATE

George Washington Men Console
Prof. Schreiber's Family.

Resolutions of regret over the death of Prof. Ernst Otto Schreiber, Jr., member of the faculty of the George Washington University Law School, will be adopted at the next meeting of the board of trustees of the university.

Prof. Schreiber died last week after a brief illness of typhoid fever. He had just returned to the city from Harvard University, where he had been on leave of absence for a year engaging in post-graduate work. Upon his return he was to have taught in the George Washington University Summer School.

Prof. Schreiber was one of the youngest members of the law school faculty. He was a graduate of Central High School and George Washington University. He was student orator at the recent commencement exercises at Harvard University.

Rear Admiral Charles Herbert Stockton, U. S. N., retired, president of George Washington University, and other officials of the university have sent letters of condolence to Prof. Schreiber's family.

GERMAN PRISONERS NUMBER 117,776

British Lose 51,088 Men to Enemy
Since War Began.

London, July 7.—Since the beginning of the war the British have captured 117,776 German prisoners, exclusive of natives taken prisoner in the African campaigns, many of whom have been released, said Maj. Gen. F. B. Maurice, director of military operations, at the war office.

The British have lost to the enemy 51,088 prisoners, including Indian and native troops. These figures take in all theaters of war.

The British have captured 739 guns during the war and lost 132. Of the guns lost 37 were recaptured, and of the 56 captured by the enemy hands 8 were lost by the British on the west front early in the war.

"The British have not lost a single gun on the west front since April 1915," said the general.

RHEUMATISM IS A BLOOD DISEASE

By Keeping Blood in Good Condition Disease May Be Averted.

Avoid "Patent" Remedies Containing Too Much Alcohol.

Only by keeping the blood in a pure, healthful condition can we hope to avoid the ravages of rheumatism. This condition may be acquired through the medium of iron taken into the system, in sufficient quantity to overcome the impurities already contained in the blood. The preparations contain too little iron to be effective unless taken in very large quantities. Many of these preparations also contain from 10 to 25 per cent alcohol, and are detrimental to the system. It should be taken only upon the specific prescription of a skilled physician.

Acid Iron Mineral (natural iron) does not contain any alcohol, or other harmful, habit-forming drugs. In addition to iron A-I-M contains magnesium, sodium, calcium and potassium, medicinal properties that your doctor will tell you are very beneficial to the general health.

Acid Iron Mineral is obtained from the only natural medicinal iron mineral deposit of its kind known to the world, and is bottled only after being concentrated and tested in the laboratories of the Ferrodine Chemical Corp., at Roanoke, Virginia. A half teaspoonful in a glass of water after meals is a dose; a fifty-cent bottle diluted in four gallons of ordinary drinking water makes an ideal mineral water, exceptionally fine for those suffering with rheumatism, or may be taken a half teaspoonful in water after meals.

To insure your getting A-I-M at your druggists look for the A-I-M trade-mark. It means that you are getting the real, natural iron without the addition of alcohol, or other harmful narcotics. If your druggist hasn't A-I-M a large size family bottle sent prepaid for $1 by addressing the Ferrodine Chemical Corp., Roanoke, Va. Accept no substitutes.—Ad.
